CHITA-TOKIO PARLEYS SET FOR MONDAY IN CHANGCHUN

Japanese Loan To C. E. Railway To Be Issue

RECOGNITION, TOO

No Chinese-Russian Conference Before Evacuation

BY JOSEF W. HALL
Staff Correspondent the China Press

Peking, Aug. 28.—The Russo-Japanese conference is scheduled to begin in Changchun next Monday. The delay in beginning the conference has been due to the inability of the two parties to agree upon a meeting place, Changchun having been selected after several weeks of negotiations. The sessions will be held at the Yamato hotel.

M. Joffe, the Soviet delegate, will leave Peking with his staff on Saturday and the Japanese delegates, who will sail from Tokio Wednesday, are expected to be at Chungchun in time for the preliminary meeting Monday.

One of the big questions that will come before the conference relates to the Japanese loan to the Chinese Eastern railway in return for preferential rates from Harbin to the seaboard through Dairen. The Soviet's determination to insist upon recognition is also expected to be a big issue, and one that may not be surmounted.

In the meantime the Chinese-Russian conference must wait, but Chinese officials here declare that there will be no conference now or until such time in the future that Russia sees fit to evacuate Mongolia.

Tokio, August 28.—The Japanese delegates to the Conference to be held on August 30 have left for Changchun where the meeting with the Russian delegates will be held, probably in the Japanese Consulate.

GOLD MINES PAY IN SIBERIA, 'IF OUT OF CHITA'S REACH'

Soldiers Continue To Menace Towns In Amur Provinces

(Reuter's Service)

Chita, August 18.—In my last news-letter I made mention of the anti-Bolshevik tendencies of the troops in the Verkhne-Udinsk area. A fortnight after the events described, the War Factory in the same town was the scene of a strike of the workmen, and the action of the Workers' Union is of interest. This factory is the only War Factory in the F.E.R. which is in active operation. They do not produce arms or ammunition as the machinery requires spare parts which can only be secured in foreign countries. They manufacture, almost solely, the small Russan cart called a "telega," which forms the bulk of the Red transport.

Arrears of unpaid wages and general dissatisfaction with the working conditions were the cause of the strike which had the approval of the local branch of the Union. The strike was rendered abortive by the action of the Central Union, supported by the Military, who brought a large batch of new workers to replace those on strike. The latter were discharged and so far have not received the pay due to them. It is amusing to note the divergence of opinion between the branch of the Union which declared the strike and the head office of the same organisation which broke it.

Conditions in the towns of the Amur Provinces remain much the same. The principal danger in the streets at night is from soldiers. Their ration is two pounds of bread per week and a small quantity of meat. They are still not paid and most of them live on what can be exacted by mendicancy of the kind which supports its petition with a rifle.

After the grant by Moscow to the F.E.R. War Ministry of seven million gold roubles, which, by the way, Moscow intimated would be

DOG DAYS STUFF

By Wesla

ANYBODY who has made a close study of dogs, or who has a fondness for that dumb but noble friend of mankind, will tell you that the dog's possibilities of intellectual development are practically unlimited, and cite instances to prove that contention. The real dogologist will tell you that there is hardly a human accomplishment that some dog, somewhere, has not equalled or surpassed.

Moreover, the dog possesses one attribute that is very rare in humans, and that is, the faculty of looking ahead. Everybody knows that one of the greatest of our human weaknesses is our stolid indifference to what the future may hold for us. Not so the dog! He never allows himself to forget that tomorrow may be a rainy day.

Perhaps the best illustration of this excellent dog trait was furnished by a certain thrift hound that once was owned by an uncle of H. O. Hashagen.

"He surely was a marvelous dog," explained the popular Socony official to a number of friends at the American club last evening. "Forethought," he continued, "was that dog's middle name. One night my uncle's house caught fire and it was only by determined work on the part of the firemen that the members of the family were saved, as all were asleep when the flames broke out. Finally, however, everybody was safely out and all were standing around, watching the fire, when suddenly this dog was seen to dash madly into the burning house. Our first thought was that somebody had been left behind, and that the dog, informed by his instinct that some member of the family was in danger, had rushed in to resuce the endangered one. But a hurried counting of noses showed that all the members of the family were safe, whereunon we concluded that the dog had suddenly gone loco.

"Imagine our surprise a few minutes later when we saw the dog leap through a flaming window with a white bundle in his mouth, and imagine our complete consternation a minute afterwards when upon opening the bundle, which he had made up of wet towels, we found all my uncle's insurance policies which the members of the family in their haste to escape had completely forgotten."

NOT so dusty, Hash, ol' timer! That thrift hound of your uncle's must have been a relative of a poker setter that was once owned by our friend A. T. Cooper, or just "Coop" as we all know him. "Coop" may own him yet, for all I know, although I think he left the dog in California.

Anyway, Coop bought this dog from a Japanese market gardener in California, and took him up to the Belmont academy, where Coop at that time was attending school. The dog, unknown to Coop, had already graduated from the academy, with honors, as was to be proved later by one of the most remarkable exhibitions of intelligence ever recorded in the history of dogology. Coop says that no dog except one with a college education could have shown such astuteness of mind as this dog later revealed.

In those days Coop was an inveterate poker player, although not a very lucky one. Added to his lack of luck he was an Easterner born, and what those native California boys did to his bank roll was a caution. An easterner born, and naturally unlucky, playing poker with a lot of Westerners! You can imagine what they did to him.

Well, things went from bad to worse and Coop was both broke and distracted. He was so distracted that his dog, which used to sleep under his chair while he tried to flirt with a Puritanical fate, sensed that something was wrong with him. So the next night that Coop "sat in" the dog, instead of taking his customary place under his master's chair, walked out of the house and galloped off toward the Sierra Nevadas.

He returned in an hour, just as Coop was down to his last dollar, sneaking in quietly and resuming his place under the chair. And from that minute Coop's luck turned. He was simply unbeatable—a poker playin' fool! At eleven o'clock he had every

LONDON "TIMES" SEES CHINA AS A "GOING CONCERN"

Disorganised As State, But Social Structure Is Intact

(Reuter's Service)

London, August 28.—A leading article in the Times commenting on the situation in China says, despite the gloomy prospects of an immediate solution of the country's difficulties it is something to know that there are men eager for reform and courageous enough to continue striving for them despite innumerable difficulties.

As a state China is thoroughly disorganised but as a social structure she is still a going concern as the magnitude of her foreign trade proves. She, at least, is infinitely better off than many states in Europe. She possesses proved patriots but is handicapped by ignorance of the standards of value of the new political system which has been forced upon her by the revolution, and the present confusion is but an incident in her history.

That she has much to learn and much to go through before she acquires stability is inevitable, but it is unthinkable that a race like the Chinese, endowed with vigor and industry, will fail to emerge successfully from its disordered political condition.

A Letter From Home

By Bruce Hopper

BRUCE HOPPER, feature writer for THE CHINA PRESS, has just returned to the United States after an absence of six years—and found a new country, with new people and new ways and ideas.

During his six years absence he served as an ambulance driver, member of the French and American flying services, attended Oxford and the Sorbonne, traveled all over Europe, walked half way across Asia, came down the Yangtsze (as described in the travelogue in THE CHINA PRESS every Sunday) and finally landed in Shanghai.

How does a man feel when he returns home after six years? What are his reactions? What new things does he see and sense? Says Hopper:

"I felt the usual sob in the throat when viewing my native land, and was pleased to discover my soul was still sensitive to the drag and tear of familiar things after six years absence. However, after lying in the offing for hours, while immigration officials, customs boarding officials, medical inspectors, Mr. Help-Me-While-I-Help-You supported by Mr. I-Scratch-Your-Back-If-You-Will-Scratch-Mine, went through a thousand minor tactics in the terrible problem of deciding whether the port authorities would be justified in permitting the ship to proceed to the dock—I say, after that exposure some of my enthusiasm had dribbled away.

"The shipping mania has turned the seaboard into a vast settlement of parasites and job-creators. Every man in a job is an essential job-creator for his friends. So far has the plague of red tape developed that one man at sea has to support six to eight ashore.

"The country seems to have taken a sheaf out of the Czarist book in the matter of officious officialdom. Mr. Emigrate-And-Be-Dawned raised the question of my authority to travel between San Francisco and Vancouver on a foreign vessel. (Mr. Hopper returned to America on a Canadian freighter.). Said I, my ticket reads Shanghai to Vancouver. Said he, well what are you doing in San Francisco? Said I, mellifluously, the good ship brought me. Said he, the ship also stops at Seattle, and who knows but what you intend to leave the boat there and thus deprive our coastwise passenger service of its legal fare?

"FED UP," HE SAYS

"Said I, trust in God, and go back to farming; it's less trying on the thyroid gland, the seat of suspicious temperament. I was fed up, that's all. He thumbed my passport and asked why I went abroad at all. Said I, shoveling out the saccharine, to make the air safe for democracy. Then he had to see my discharge from the army, and asked if I had paid my income tax. And I said, trust in God, etc., ad naseum, ad infinitum, also ad astra per aspera, over the pons asinorum.

"By that time I began to think I was in reality some kind of criminal, whose memories of the Golden Gate was the Fata Morgana in a previous existence which in no way justified my return to the land of the free and the home of the brave.

"Eventually I walked down the gangplank and a big man in blue attempted to halt me. I took no notice of him, but he was interested in me. I paid no heed. I heard his quick step behind me, then a rude hand on my shoulder—'Stand and deliver' sort of a summons, which convinced me he wanted me. He ran his hands under my vest, then up and down my legs. Finally he smelled my breath. 'You've got it aboard alright,' said he. 'Yes,' I said, don't you wish you were aboard too, instead of dying of thirst on this dock. He certainly was jealous.

"I went back up the plank. I reappeared with a parcel. The bluecoat demanded the privilege of seeing. Said I, unwrapping the thing: 'It's all

Shanghai Aviator Makes Flight To Kashing And Back

What is said to be the longest non-stop flight ever achieved in this neighborhood was made by Mr. W. E. Holland, formerly of the Royal Flying Corps, who made the trip from Loongwha to Kashing and back, a distance of 140 miles in 120 minutes, on Sunday. On the flight Mr. Holland was accompanied by a Chinese official as passenger. The flight was made in an Avro three-seater plane.

Weather conditions for the flight were particularly favorable with a slight breeze. The trip to Kashing was made in fifty minutes and the return journey occupied an hour and ten minutes.

Swatow Needs Big Sum To Launch Program Of Economic Reconstruction

Must Rebuild Dykes, Reclaim Flood Lands And Furnish Fishing Craft To Destitute Villagers Along Coast

A report of the survey just completed in the Swatow typhoon area was received here by American Red Cross officials yesterday, indicating the needs of the stricken district and providing the bodies engaged in relief work with a definite and comprehensive basis for their further activities.

The report on the survey is contained in a letter received by Dr. W. W. Peter, secretary of the American Red Cross China Central Committee from Mr. Lester L. Schnare, American Consul at Swatow. Summed up, the substance of Mr. Schnare's communication may be given as follows:

There is no danger of epidemic in the devastated region; the local authorities, aided by generous donations from Hongkong, are distributing a sufficiency of food and medicines to care for the immediate needs of the populace; BUT, there is imperative need for the provision of funds for the inauguration of a program of economic reconstruction, lacking which the district and its population must fall into a state, the attendant suffering of which may be worse than that brought by the storm itself.

RECLAMATION SCHEME

In the opinion of Mr. Schnare the sum of $100,000 will be needed to launch the reconstruction and reclamation work and in this connection those in charge of relief work here yesterday expressed the hope that the $100,000 allocated to Swatow aid last week by the Finance Commission of the National Famine Relief Organisation at Peking may be directed into this channel, since it would give the work a tremendous start and insure the accomplishment of the scheme.

The survey just completed, Mr Schnare's letter states, shows that the district most severely visited by the typhoon is that known as the Chenghai district, which includes Swatow, running along the coast for a distance of about 25 miles and inland from 8 to 10 miles. In this area 40,000 of the total estimated loss of life of 50,000 occurred. The territory is all alluvial and all was badly flooded by the tidal wave. The salt water has rendered the

RICSHA UNION "MANIFESTO" URGES COHEN TO EASE LOAD

Propose Regulations On Rental And Repairs

WANT SYMPATHY

Wish To Co-Operate With Owners For Mutual Benefit

Because of the alleged excessive charges made by A. Cohen, proprietor of the Star Ricsha Company for ricsha accessories, which caused a partial strike among the coolies of that company recently, the Richsha Men's Union has drawn up a manifesto, setting forth certain suggestions by way of remedy for the aggravated situation existing between the owners and the hirers of the ricshas.

A translation of the manifesto, which was sent to The China Press yesterday, follows:

"For a considerable time, the Star Ricsha Company and our members have been at war. We have attempted to devise some means whereby the dispute might be settled but in vain, because the proprietor of that company has, up to the present moment, signified no intention of coming to a compromise.

"Due to our limited knowledge and poor ability, nothing, therefore, has been accomplished in our attempt to help our fellow-members. While this condition grieves us very much, we feel that so long as the matter hangs fire for even one day, our responsibilities cannot end. We have held a number of meetings, which decided that only peaceful means should be resorted to in order to secure our aims, so that our members may not suffer further pains nor the company suffer business depression. We propose to negotiate with reason and cooperate with sympathy and beg to submit the following plan for the final settlement of the vexing problem:

AS TO RENTALS

"(1) Rent should be paid only when the ricsha is actually used by the coolie. The hirer should be excused from paying any money to the company when his ricsha cannot be used for hiring purposes through loss of license, repairs, storms, heat, holidays of the mechanics which make repair work impossible and other causes which necessitate the keeping of the vehicle indoors.

"(2) The service of the tires and tubes should be regulated in accordance with the terms of original sellers of the articles. Since the company is guaranteed by the seller against premature explosion, the coolie certainly should not be held responsible for the damage. If it is proved that the damage was caused through negligence then the assessment should be made by monthly instalments.

"(3) When the hood is torn, the damage should be assessed in accordance with the number of square inches thus damaged. When a wheel is damaged through collision the coolie must pay, but the amount should not be arbitrarily fixed. No damage can be assessed if the wheel deteriorates on account of wear and tear. The same condition should apply to mud guards, ribs, axles, shafts and wires.

"(4) Damages are to be assessed only when the apron, rain coat, uniform or covers are lost through negligence on the part of the coolie, who shall not be responsible for their deterioration through ordinary wear and tear.

"The above are reasonable conditions proposed by our union for the amicable settlement of the present dispute. If the company accepts them, our aim is reached and we shall do our best to make coolies co-operate with the company and work for their mutual interest. Otherwise, we shall be obliged to withdraw from our position as mediators and will no longer hold ourselves responsible for the consequences."

fields infertile and the dykes have either been breached or entirely washed away. Until these dykes have been replaced and the land reclaimed it will be impossible for the farmers to work the fields and unless these fields are speedily restored it will be impossible to plant the fall crops, which means famine this winter.

TO REPAIR DYKES

The problem of restoring the dykes has already had the attention of the Guild of Swatow merchants at Hongkong, who have consulted with the village elders and have already set their plans afoot to meet the emergency. They propose that the villages in the devastated region supply the laborers, while the Guild undertakes to provide these with two meals a day and a daily wage of 200 cash, which will enable them to maintain their families while the repair work continues. The scheme is triply advantageous, in that it provides immediate relief for the destitute populace without loss of self-respect, will bring about the restoration of their means of livelihood and will protect the district against similar disaster in the future.

The Red Cross hopes to be able to undertake the restoration of the dykes from Swatow to Unking, a distance of 120 li, where there is no protection whatever from the sea. The estimated cost of the reclamation work, as stated above, will be at least $100,000 and the Guild of Swatow merchants in Hongkong has already raised about $20,000 and is working strenuously to obtain more funds.

The restoration of the seaboard dykes and the reclamation of the inundated lands, however, is but one phase of the program of reconstruction. The river dykes must be repaired in order that the high water in the autumn may cause further flooding of the land.

COAST PROBLEM GRAVE

A more serious problem is to be met along the sea coast. In the more inland towns and villages, the survey shows, it was the strong who survived. Along the coast the breadwinners, standing by their boats, were washed away to sea. Here also the destruction was much more complete and the situation, as regards the regaining of economic balance, has been rendered extremely grave through the loss of practically the entire fleet of the fishing villages. The surviving villagers are seriously considering migrating to other parts, it is stated.

Another class vitally hit by the loss of boats is the clam-digging fraternity, who make up a large part of the coast population. With their small craft destroyed they are unable to carry on and they also are talking of migrating. This latter event would embody more serious possibilities that is seen at first glance. The bulk of the buildings erected in the Swatow area are made of a mixture of pounded up rock and lime—the latter being made from the clam shells gathered by the fisher folk in question. If they depart building operations will be seriously handicapped.

The Guild of Swatow merchants here also has come forward with suggestions which, if the necessary funds are forthcoming, will solve the problem. They propose that a fund be made available for the purchase of fishing and other craft, the money to be advanced in the nature of loans which would be paid back in installments by the fishermen through the village chiefs.

HEALTH SITUATION GOOD

Another communication received by Dr. Peter from Mr. Schnare yesterday told of the arrival of the Shanghai unit of doctors and nurses who departed for the scene of the disaster a few days after the storm. Dr. and Mrs. Pfeister and the Chinese doctors and nurses were heartily welcomed by the relief officials, the letter stated, and it was proposed to send them immediately to one of the worst stricken districts. At the time of writing this had not yet been decided upon. The health situation at that time was not regarded as dangerous, the Chinese sanitary corps having taken matters in hand with admirable despatch and efficiency. The dead had all been buried and no epidemics had been reported. The message stated that in case of need the Red Cross would immediately call upon Shanghai for further assistance in the way of medical workers.

An immediate need which Mr. Schnare voiced in his communication was that of matting for the construction of temporary shelters for the destitute in the various districts. Requests had been sent to Amoy and Foochow chapters of the American Red Cross for mat shelters and if it was found that these could be secured in Shanghai, the letter stated, a shipment of several hundred would be much appreciated. The matting asked for is about 9 feet by 20, of the sort generally in use among the Chinese as boat shelters.

In The U. S. Court For China

Decision was handed down yesterday in the United States Court for China by Judge C. S. Lobingier in the mandamus proceedings filed by Dodge and Seymour against U. S. Marshal Thurston R. Porter to compel execution of a writ of replevin by the Marshal upon the Shanghai Taxi Company.

The writ of replevin against the Shanghai Taxi company was for ten motor cars and after it had been issued by the clerk of the United States Court for China the receiver for the Shanghai Taxi Company applied for and obtained an injunction in the court of the U. S. Commissioner halting execution of the writ of replevin. The mandamus proceedings then were filed and the application was denied in the following decision:

SYLLABUS

1. Mandamus will not issue unless the relator's right is clear and complete.

2. ID.: Injunction. Nor where the act sought to be compelled has been enjoined.

3. ID.: Appeal. Nor "where there is an adequate remedy by appeal."

Williams, Franklin and Faison by Mr. Franklin for the Relator.

Fessenden, Holcomb and Snyder by Mr. Holcomb for the Respondent.

This is an application for a writ of mandamus to compel the Respondent to seize, under a writ of replevin, certain automobiles in possession of the Receiver of the Shanghai Taxicab Company. The Respondent's return to the alternative writ, is to the effect that Respondent had been enjoined from executing said writ of replevin and that the bond whose sureties are required to be 'approved by the Marshal' was not so approved by him. It is not alleged nor proven that such approval was ever requested nor that relator's failure to approve the bond was unjustified and it would thus appear that a minor, though essential, step in the proceeding has been omitted. For since no judicial officer issues the writ the Marshal must necessarily exercise caution in executing it. But it is a fundamental principle of the remedy here sought that the relator's right 'must be clear and complete' and that respondent must have no discretion to refuse.

Again it is the law that

"If the act of performance as sought to be compelled by mandamus has been restrained by injunction the writ will not issue."

Unless the injunction was void Respondent's duty was to observe it and it was void only if issued without jurisdiction; for

"If the court had acted within its powers and jurisdiction, although erroneously, the party would be in contempt for breach of the injunction."

We are not satisfied from the showing before us that the injunction is void. Indeed Relator itself seems to have recognised its validity by moving to vacate it and to be estopped from asserting otherwise. Finally, and regardless of the foregoing.

"Mandamus will not lie where there is an adequate remedy by appeal."

Now such a remedy is provided by the China Court Regulations. According to the record (Cause No. 1482), indeed, Relator's counsel sought to avail himself of that remedy but for some reason abandoned it. The reason given in argument was that Relator was not a party to that proceeding. Nevertheless it was treated as a party and its motion to vacate was duly entertained. In any event Relator might have become a party by intervention, and thus have secured the right to prosecute his appeal. The petition is therefore defective in failing to allege that the Relator has no remedy under the ordinary course of law. It should also have alleged the reason for failing to bring the action in the name of the United States.

There was some discussion in argument as to the power of the Consular Court to appoint a Receiver but we do find a determination of question necessary to a disposition of this case. Moreover Relator has recognised the Receiver in the case in which the injunction was granted by instituting an action (Cause No. 1779) against said Receiver.

For the reasons above mentioned the Writ of Mandaums must be denied.

gone, all gone, 'cept the smell!' The bluecoat snatched the bottle with rude and reckless hand. A nose, on which there was a tint reminiscent of bleariness, ravaged the cork. And I strode off the dock, more or less pleased with myself.

"Up town I flagged a tram, or street car, to be locally correct. I stood on the platform, sort of lost in queer feelings. I handed the conductor a quarter. He gave me back small money, which I stowed away, and went on dreaming. After a couple of minutes he demanded: 'Well, are you going to pay your fare or not?.' Said I, 'Sorry, but I did,' and handed him another nickel. He waved toward a funny glass box with holes in it. It was then a matter of a fifth of a second for me to tumble to the obvious destination of the nickel. I felt so ridiculous I immediately got off the car and should hear the suppressed titter break into a chorus as the thing pulled out. Machinery is a great thing, but embarassing unless one keeps in touch with its latest developments.

THE NIGHT LIFE

"That night we went to see the chic monde do its nightly spasm of shimmering acrobatics at——. In that wiggling mass there is not the 'fat wet hand on the fat wet back' as in Shanghai. Still, the idea seems to be to get the greatest amount of exercise possible, a maximum of movement with a minimum of foot work. Seen through half-closed eyes the floor of grappling humanity looks like a dozen octopi hopelessly entangled, trying to free their arms. One looks in vain for that attractive 'want-something look,' discovered in 'If Winter Comes' and made famous by Larry. There is plenty of the 'Have-got' smirk of satiety, and even more of the 'can-do.' I also caught one fleeting glance which seemed to say: 'Wan-chee look see?'—but I glanced back: 'What thing?' and 'How fashion?'

"The cafe (name deleted for obvious reasons to follow. Ed.) consists of the world above the table which looks at the show, and the world below the table which hides its neck. I was rapt in sweet contemplation of the fact at the next table. Sed I, beautiful lines of a del Sarto. . . . she has the Correggio mouth . . . . . Giotto would have liked the bloom of her young cheek . . . a Madonna that Raphael would have loved in the flesh, and even da Vinci could not have reproduced that delicate hand.

"As I watched the pretty hand stole under the table, reappeared with a square bottle of which the contents bubbled into a pitcher of lemonade. Quick as a flash the bottle whisked back into its abode under the table . . . and the Madonna never lost for a moment her expression of virginal tenderness. I turned away and saw the same operation in another direction. I soon became aware that square and round bottles were nestled between guardian feet under almost all the tables. Some dapper gents of the town have an admirable technique. They talk earnestly, gazing into the distance, and at the same fill a cup under the table, and drink whatever they pour into said cup as though it were coffee. It seems like a fascinating game. Everybody knows everybody else has a bottle. The only thing to be avoided is making two bottles clink, which would be unnecessary defiance of Mr. Volstead. It's a great life because everybody weakens enough to be agreeable.

MAD ON RADIOPHONES

"I forgot to tell you the entire Western hemisphere is mad on the subject of radiophones. There are several sending stations around San Francisco, including the Examiner and the Fairmont Hotel. Sparz put in a condenser to receive shorter wave lengths, and we have heard everything nicely. Between six and seven there are news bulletins, market reports, announcements of sport events, etc. All as clear and distinct as over an ordinary phone. Then the concerts began, stopping for two minutes every ten to listen for S.O.S. signals or important messages. The radios monopolise the air during the evenings. Whenever the music would stop there would be absolute silence, showing that all the operators were listening. It's very interesting.

"This morning a ship, the Ruth Alexander of the Admiral line, talked to us by radio phone. It's certainly the rage. What seems extraordinary is that it has been perfected in America without the Orient getting enthused. At least I heard of no one in Shanghai using a radio phone. It has become every boy's toy over here, subject to regulation. Anyone can get a receiving set by paying a small license fee. The sending sets are restricted to the central stations, the distributing points.

"Seattle—I find Seattle subject to absurd misconceptions regarding China and Siberia, if the Chamber of Commerce dissemination of information be taken as criterium of the general acceptance. They are hot on the trail of the ship subsidies, which is good. They are also strong for making Manila a coastwise port, which is bad. One of the questions they are trying to decide is whether it would pay the Admiral line to run its ships via Honolulu during the winter. I venture the opinion that Seattle's happy proximity to the Orient in the handling of freight is the most important factor governing the city's shipping future.

"The possible increase of passenger traffic over the southern route would be more than neutralised by the advantage the C.P.R. would have in getting all the fast freight, including the silk. Competition with the Canadian Pacific, boat and rail, is the breakfast talk of every Seattle business men . . . so it seems. I find that any dumbell from the Orient is listened to as though he were an oracle."

FOR REMOVING SUPERFLUOUS HAIR.

No woman who has any sense of beauty will deny that superfluous hair is one of the greatest drawbacks to good looks.

Realising this, women of all times have put themselves to any expense, and have endured considerable pain and discomfort in order to rid themselves of this great disfigurement.

Nowadays electrolysis is a prevalent "cure" for this evil, but in reality this process involves a great deal of unnecessary expense, waste of time and pain.

The simplest quickest, and most effective treatment can easily be carried out by any sufferer, in the privacy of her home. This is the recipe:

Procure about 1 oz. powdered pheminol from your chemist; mix a sufficient quantity with a few drops of water into a stiff paste. Apply this carefuly and thoroughly to the hair you wish to remove, and allow the paste to dry. In a few minutes it can be gently scraped away. The skin is left absolutely free from hair, and should then be carefully washed in warm water, and if desired, lightly dusted with a little talcum powder. (Advt.)

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, August 28.—Szechuen gentry in Hupeh have telegraphed to the Central Government saying that General Lu Hsiang has fled from Szechuen, that the Second Army has been thoroughly defeated and that there is no necessity to send Northern troops into Szechuen, the people of which have been ruined by local disturbances and hope only to be left alone.

pocket in the crowd turned wrong side out, and at midnight he had a sheaf of I. O. U's three inches thick.

After the game broke up and the boys had gone home Coop happened to glance at his dog, and noticed that his whiskers were bloody and that little tufts of grayish fur were clinging to his lips. Looking more closely he saw a rabbit's hind foot on the floor under the chair, whereupon it dawned on him that his dog, realising his bad luck, had gone off into the mountains and killed one of those big California luck rabbits.

"Dog!" exclaimed Coop, wild with delight as he seized the rabbit's foot, and thinking of future poker games, "Dog, are you sure this is a left hind foot?"

At that the dog dropped his head clear down between his front paws and walked slowly out of the room, completely heartbroken to think that his beloved master could entertain the notion that he, a college bred dog, could possibly be guilty of associating the right hind foot of a rabbit with a game of chance.

Life insurance gives peace of mind because it has enabled you to create an estate immediately that would have taken you years to accumulate—it makes possible the realisation of your life's objectives if you should happen to be taken away prematurely. Trial Of Ralph S. Boyd Is Nearing Conclusion

Hearing Of Charge To Be Resumed This Morning In U. S. Court For China

Trial is to be resumed this morning before Judge C. S. Lobingier in the United States Court for China of the case of Ralph S. Boyd, head of the various Boyd enterprises, who is facing charges of having obtained Tls. 30,000 by false pretenses from General Chang at a time when General Chang was director of the Hunan Provincial Mint. Four witnesses remained to be heard, including Boyd himself, when the trial was adjourned yesterday and it was thought then that all the testimony in the case would be in by noon today.

In the course of the case for the Government the effort has been to show that Boyd in a stage setting of opulently furnished offices in the Glen Line building accepted a deposit of Tls. 30,000 from General Chang on representations that he had available a considerable quantity of copper ingots that he could supply without delay for use in the Hunan mint and that this was done at a time when Boyd neither had any copper nor was in a position to obtain any to fulfill the agreement he made with General Chang.

NO SHIPMENTS MADE

Mr. Morris Marshall, manager of the Hankow branch of R. S. Boyd and Company, was the first witness called by United States District Attorney Leonard G. Husar yesterday. Mr. Marshal testified that he had been manager of the Hankow office from January until April 22, and that during that time no copper shipments had been made from Shanghai. He said that he would have known of the shipments and seen the permits had any shipments been made.

Cross-examined he testified that General Chang, or an agent, had called and inquired about the shipment and he had wired Shanghai concerning it. The Shanghai office had replied that they were handling the deal direct, he said.

Mr. Floyd T. Smith was the second witness called. He testified that he has been Mr. Boyd's assistant from February 1 to April 15. Under questioning from Mr. Husar he described the Boyd company's offices at 1 Peking Road where from 15 to 20 employees worked. Mr. R. S. Haskell, Boyd's counsel, raised an objection to the line of question, but Mr. Husar retorted that he wanted to show Boyd was carrying a large overhead for 'face' and was trying to impress possible Chinese customers by display.

TALKED ABOUT DEAL

Mr. Smith in his testimony also described several conversations he had had with Boyd concerning the copper deal Boyd was putting through with the Hunan mint and other details of the transaction.

He had asked concerning the deal several times, he said, because it was a very large deal, and Boyd had always reassured him that everything was alright. His part in the deal, he said, had been chiefly drawing up drafts of the contract that had been signed between Boyd and General Chang, and to making efforts to finance the $500,000 deal through the International Banking Corporation, Park-Union, and Belgian banks.

Mr. Husar then asked him why he had severed connections with R. S. Boyd and Company, to which Mr. Haskell objected, Mr. Smith finally replied that he had reached a conclusion that it was not a stable concern and that he was not satisfied with the way in which business was carried on.

Under cross-examination by Mr. Haskell, Mr. Smith said that when he joined the firm it was explained to him that it intended doing a general import and export business and shipping with insurance as a side line. At that time, he said they had five or six agencies, and negotiations were under way for about thirty others.

HAD TWO SHIPS

"Did Mr. Boyd ever tell you that he was going into the shipping business on a large scale and was negotiating for the purchase of 13 ex-German vessels from the Chinese government?" Mr. Haskell asked.

"I knew there were negotiations for various ships but I don't remember him mentioning the 13 ships specifically."

"How many ships did you have at that time?"

"The Wahtah and the Wah Lee."

"You say Mr. Boyd said it was a safe deal?"

"Yes. Because it was such a large deal I asked about it and he gave me to understand that the buying was all covered and that everything was alright."

"He never told you that he had that amount of copper in godown or that he owned that much?"

"No."

"In deals involving $500,000 does the firm always advance their own money or do they finance such deals through banks?"

"It all depends. They generally try to finance through banks."

"Do you know of any foreign firm in Shanghai that has $500,000 worth of copper in stock?" No.

"If you say you have a certain commodity does that mean you actually have that much or that you can get it?"

Mr. Husar objected to the question as calling for a conclusion rather than a fact and was upheld by Judge Lobingier.

"Boyd said to you 'I can get copper'? Yes.

"You went to banks to try to finance the deal?"

"Yes. I went to the Belgian Park-Union and International banks but they couldn't handle the deal."

BANKS DECLINE

"Why?"

"The Park Union told me that conditions were such in the North just then that they wouldn't take the risk. At the International they told me that under the present conditions they did not want to deal with any Central or Provincial authorities. At the Belgian bank they said someone else had already been there and discussed the matter."

"Did Boyd ever talk to you of refinancing the company?"

"Yes he spoke of refinancing the company on a larger scale and selling shares. The capitalisation was to be largely increased."

"What figure?"

"He said probably $20,000,000."

Questioned again by Mr. Husar. Mr. Smith said that Boyd had several schemes.

"Did he ever have any other $20,000,000 dreams?"

"He expected to increase the business of the company, he said."

"But he never actually got the 13 ex-German ships?" No.

"And the only ship he did have, the Wahtah, was taken away from him because he didn't pay the charter money?"

"There was some financial matters involved in, just what I don't know."

Mr. Andre Feragen of the Chinese Maritime Customs, was the next witness called and testified that the records of the Customs showed that no shipments of copper from Shanghai to Hankow had been made by R. S. Boyd and Company during the time under consideration. He also identified several invoices of the s.s. Wahtah, on which the prosecution alleges Boyd declared he had shipped the copper, and said they showed that no copper had been shipped on that vessel.

GEN. CHANG CALLED

General Chang, director of the Hunan Mint, who alleges he advanced Tls. 30,000 to Boyd on the copper deal which resulted in the charges, was the next witness, being recalled by the prosecution to clear up several points. Considerable argument arose between opposing counsel over the introduction of the original telegram alleged to have been sent General Chang by Boyd reporting that the copper had been shipped to Hankow.

Mr. Husar sought to introduce the telegram as evidence that a copper deal was in progress between Boyd and General Chang and that Boyd wired General Chang at Hankow that the copper had been shipped on the s.s. Wahtah but had been returned to Shanghai because the permit was not acceptable to the Hankow Customs.

Mr. Haskell opposed its introduction on the ground that it was not the best evidence. Mr. Haskell asked General Chang why he was so positive the telegram was from Boyd when it was signed by the Chinese name for R. S. Boyd and Company. General Chang said he had dealings with only Boyd, not the company. Mr. Haskell contended that the telegram could have been sent by some one else in the offices, but General Chang insisted he had always negotiated with Boyd personally.

LINE-UP OF NEW CABINET LEAVES CHANG IN SHADE

Mukden Influence Is Replaced By Southerners

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, August 28.—In view of the impending vote on Mr. Tang Shao-yi for the premiership it is interesting to note that two of Mr. Tang Shao-yi's supporters are already in the cabinet. Southern influence is thus virtually replacing that of General Chang Tso-lin.

The following grouping of the Cabinet has been obtained from Chinese semi-official sources: Dr. Wang Chung-hai, Dr. Wellington Koo and Mr. Li Ting-hsin, Independents; Messrs. Chang Shou-tseng, Kao Eng-hung, Chang Yin-hua and Sun Tan-lin, members of the Chihli party; Messrs. Chang Yao-tseng and Lu Hsin, members of the Chen Hsueh-huei party, the leadership of which Mr. Tang Shao-yi inherited from Mr. Chen Chun-hsuen.

It should be emphasised that the independents do not represent a party but are individual and are without affiliation, while the Chihli party's right is sub-divided as follows: For Tsao Kun, Messrs. Chang Shou-tseng and Chang Yin-hua; for Wu Pei-fu, Messrs. Kao Eng-hung and Sun Tan-lin with Mr. Chang Shou-tseng as the main uniting factor, and all are on good terms.

The majority of this Cabinet speak English fluently and are on excellent personal terms with foreigners. It is not generally known that Mr. Chang Yin-hua gained his Rugger Blue at Oxford.

FRANCE, BRITAIN TAKE DISPUTE TO LEAGUE COUNCIL

Question Of Citizenship In French Protectorate, Cause

(Reuter's Service)

London, August 28.—The first time that two first rank Powers have appeared in opposition before the League of Nations concerns Tunis and Morocco, in which connection Great Britain has placed a motion on the next agenda.

The British complain that the French have no right to impose French nationality on British subjects born in Tunis or Morocco, which are not French dominations but merely protectorates.

Britain has frequently protested that British subjects of Maltese origin are handcuffed and compelled to join the French.

France contends that she possesses sovereign rights to impose nationality on foreigners born in her protectorates.

France has refused to submit the dispute to arbitration, upon which Britain has handed over the dispute to the League of Nations Council meeting on August 30.

Taminfu Tragedy Raises Point Of Property Control

Question Concerns Direction Of Stock Breeding Plan Of Mr. H. W. Houlding

As an outcome of the recent tragic death of Mr. Horace W. Houlding of the South Chihli Mission at Tamingfu, who was gored by a bull, questions have been raised concerning the control of the Taming properties and of the extensive stock breeding enterprise in which Mr. Houlding was engaged, according to a report published in the North China Mail. One report is that the property has been turned over to a company incorporated at Washington.

The property consists of land and buildings at Taming and American cattle imported by Mr. Houlding for his cattle-breeding enterprise. The company has sustained much loss by disease among the cattle, and it is stated that Mr. Houlding was examining some recently-imported stock which was also said to be threatened by disease, when he was attacked by a bull, and died from his injuries two hours later. His son, Ernest Houlding, with his wife, left China last June for America.

It is added that there was some opposition in the mission to the cattle-breeding enterprise, as incompatible with missionary work and only involving loss of funds, but that Mr. Houlding persisted in it.

Gold Mines Pay In Siberia, 'If Out Of Chita's Reach'

the last they could afford, the Chita War Ministry, aware that their existence depended on the maintenance of an armed force, decided to operate some gold fields situated about 150 versts Northeast of Chita and also those fields in the Nerchensk area, in order to provide revenue. In the area Northeast of Chita a few versts away from the mines being worked by the Military there happened also to be a privately owned mine, where constant trouble was experienced with the workmen. The troops at the military mine were applied to for protection, which was refused. The workmen at the "Civil" property got to know of the refusal and promptly seized the property, which still remains in their hands, the Government professing themselves unable to assist the private owner, as they do not wish to upset the workmen.

Notwithstanding this impotence of the Government in the matter of providing protection, foreigners are obtaining good results in the Amur region. Here it is the case of being out of reach of Chita and adopting the wise policy of paying high wages and selling food cheaply to the workmen. It seems established that if by the methods above named the good-will of the inhabitants can be secured mining is not only possible but is in fact being made a success.

WARLIKE GESTURE MADE BY CHIHLI AND FENGTIEN MEN

Feverish Preparations For Eventualities Take Place Near Wall

(Dah Tong News Bureau)

Peking, August 28.—The troops of the Fengtien and Chihli cliques are closing upon each other near Shanhaikwan. An ugly situation has been created. While both sides are actively engaged in preparation for eventualities, they deny that either of them has any intention of repeating the warfare.

General Wu Pei-fu has announced his opposition against the election of Tsao Kun as Vice-president of the Republic. When approached by certain politicians with the proposition that Dr. Sun Yat-sen be elected President and General Tsao the vice-president, General Wu said that Parliament would be doing well if it succeeds in drafting and enacting the constitution. He expected no good result from the solons if they conduct a presidential election, because, he said, that the legislature are already making a mess of things in their attempt to elect their own vice-speaker of the Senate.

The bill for the appointment of Tang Shao-yi as premier is up for discussion and adoption on Wednesday but no result is expected. While Chenghsuechi and the Yiyuesha cliques are actively campaigning for its passage, converting the attitude of some of the neutral Parliamentarians, both the Yenchuf and the Taolung factions will oppose it by not putting in their appearance.

The misunderstanding between President Li and General Wu Pei-fu has been dispelled. President Li has sent several agents to negotiate with the Government leaders in Peking, promising the payment of their arrears on condition that they refrain from embarrassing Kao En-hung, Minister of Communications, whose services General Wu insisted on retaining.

A Hankow report states that General Hsiao Yao-nan, Tuchun of Hupeh, has mortgaged the mines of Hsianpishan for a loan of $10,000,000 to meet the military expenses of General Wu Pei-fu. Hsiao's opponents have despatched a representative to Peking, demanding the dismissal of the Hupeh Tuchun.

Y'POO BOWLS CLUB WINS IN RINK'S FINAL

Match Made Doubtful Until 16th End When Winners Took Lead

SINGLES ON SATURDAY

Champion Dunlop Will Meet McDougall For Title At Hongkew

McMurdo, Malcolm, McGregor and Ferrier, representing the Yangtzepoo Lawn Bowls Club, won the rink championship final Sunday from the Lawn Bowls Club in a match which was in doubt until the 16th end when McMurdo's quartet made certain of the title. The score was 26-13, hardly denoting the battle which was staged. George Dunlop, the Shanghai singles champion, Harborne, Robertson and Simmons represented the Lawn Bowls Club.

The match was staged at Hongkew Park before a big crowd of lawn bowlers, many of whom had seen Malcolm and McGregor win the thrilling pairs final on Saturday from Smith and Bert Stormes 19-18.

This is the big end of the season for the followers of the game for the singles championship final has been fixed for next Saturday afternoon at the Hongkew Park while the interport bowling starts on the ninth of next month.

George Dunlop, the present holder, will defend his title in the singles championship against J. Macdougall. Hongkong lawn bowlers will meet Shanghai at the Hongkew Park on September 9 while the following day will see Hankow in action at the Shanghai Recreation Club green.

John Burnside, Malcolm, Veitch and Dunlop will bowl against Hongkong with McMurdo, Macdougall, Bert Stormes and Ferrier representing Shanghai against Hankow.

Several of the interporters were in action Sunday when the Lawn Bowls Club four bowled to McMurdo et. al. In the early stages the match was very close, the sixth end starting with the Yangtzepoo quartet leading by a single point, 6-5. At the 13th end the score was 12-10 but a four, two and four in three ends settled the issue although the final end was exciting.

SHANGHAI BEATS BUFFALO NINE BY SCORE OF 6—4

In his first appearance on the mound since he was ill with diptheria Wynn got away with the U. S. S. Buffalo team at the Race Course Sunday afternoon after hopping off to a bad start. The sailors nicked the Shanghai hurler for three hits and one less run in the opening inning but could not stand the pace, while Wynn came back strong and ultimately fanned a dozen. The score was 6-4, each team collecting seven bingles.

After scoring twice in the opening session the Buffalos could not tally again until the eighth. The opening tallies came on a single by Dumas and a homer by Evans. The clout by Evans should have been a single, Hopkins letting the ball get by him on the ground when he started for it too late. Hopkins, incidentally, was responsible for the other two tallies, misjudging another clout by Evans after Marnini's hit to Sammy Woods hopped over the latter's head.

Hirsch scored two of the six Shanghai runs, and drove in two more. He stole home once in the eighth but was denied the feat because of the umps ruling that the catcher had not interfered with Wynn. Shanghai scored one in the third, three in the fourth and the other couple in the eighth.

Howland played his first game since losing his appendix while Wood was back on first. Thatch played shortstop, Freddie Bills being out of the game for a few days.

Some of the figures:

Shanghai
Hits	1 0 2 3 0 0 0 1 x		7
Runs	0 0 1 3 0 0 0 2 x		6
Buffalo
Hits	3 0 0 0 0 1 0 3 0		7
Runs	2 0 0 0 0 0 0 2 0		4

Summary: Struckout: by Wynn—12, Marnani—3. Passed Ball—Wall. Sacrifice hit—Thatch. Home runs—Hopkins, Evans. Three base hits—Menger. Hit by pitcher—Howland. Earned runs, Buffalo—2, Shanghai—3. Time of game—two hours. Umpires—Schulze and O'Brien.

Shooting Gossip

BY "MAGPIE"

There is a considerable speculation as to the winner-to-be of the Shanghai Championship (British .303 rifle) to be shot off Saturday, Sunday and Monday, September 2, 3 and 4, but the speculation is of a highly tentative sort, nobody coming out with any positive tips. This reluctance on the part of the tipsters is hardly to be wondered at, however, when the field is looked over. There are any number of possibilities in the list.

Many of the shooting fraternity fancy Sauer for the coming championship, backing their opinion by pointing out to his excellent scores and consistent fine shooting.

There are however also Ito (Winner 1920/21), Collaco (Winner 1918/19). Both are very reliable at the last long ranges (900 and 1,000 yards). L. J. Hughes, D. W. Kan and Y. Waung are still others spoken of as likely men. The last three named are new shots, but their new rifles and their performances during the last few months are apt to shake the nerves of a number of Shanghai "cracks."

Dr. Ransom, Rose and Hodges are former winners of Championships. With the luck breaking right for them, either may slip into the high gun position this year.

It will readily be seen that the match is not going to be a walk-away for anyone, and reliable prognostication will be practically non-existent until the 900 and 1,000 yards have been reached in the shoot.

The highest possible score for the competition is 355 points, and there is every reason to expect, if the present weather conditions continue, that a total of 320 points or thereabouts will carry the honor.

RIFLE TEAM MATCH

There will be a team match between the teams captained by Messrs. Collaco and Rose, both of the Shanghai Rifle association, at the Rifle Range next Saturday morning. Captain A. N. Collaco specially urges the members of his team to be at the Rifle Range at 6 o'clock in the morning, sharp.

TUXFORD WINS MARESFIELD CLAY PIGEON SHOOT

Tuxford won the Clay Bird handicap shoot Sunday afternoon for the new Maresfield Cup, with a score of 48 plus a handicap of 14. Bruce was second with a 40 plus 18. Read and Gande both high at 50 finished third with their handicaps of two.

The shooting was well about the average as the scores given below will show. Two possibles were scored, one by Read and another by Gande, but unfortunately for them the conditions governing the competition gave the win to the highest total including handicap. Tuxford surpassed himself and was heartily congratulated upon winning his first cup.

Name	Score	H'cap	Total
Tuxford	48	14	62
Bruce	40	18	58
Read	50	2	52
Gande	50	2	52
Nazor	47	5	52
Pirie	43	8	51
McBain	43	6	49
Himrod	42	7	49
Saunders	41	4	45
Moller	40	4	44

In the sweep Competition which followed the Foochow Traps were used, 40 birds being fired at, and Pirie proved the winner with Himrod a close second.

Yacht Races Set For Thursday

The fifth series of harbor races conducted by the Shanghai Yacht Club will be held Thursday evening. The boats will start at 5:30 o'clock.

SHANGHAI AND MEIJI NINE TO MEET TODAY

Deciding Game Of Series To Be Called At 4:30 O'clock

NINES HAVE WON ONE EACH

Should Locals Beat Japanese Today They Are Certain Of Tour Of Japan

Shanghai will meet Meji university this afternoon in the third game of the series, thus far tied. Meiji has beaten the local nine 5-0 and have suffered a defeat in the second game by the score of 6-1. The game today will decide the series.

The heavy rain yesterday rendered baseball impossible. Scott will probably pitch for Shanghai in the deciding game with Harry Kingman covering first. Watanabe, the star box man of the Japanese nine is slated to do the hurling for the visiting nine. The game is certain to be a pitchers' battle, and a fine test of batting ability.

Much depends on the outcome of the game. With the two nines tied thus far a win or a lose either way will count far for or against the local nine. Should Shanghai win today it is certain that the local nine will be invited for a tour of Japan. Should the Meiji nine beat them however there is doubt as to whether or not the local side may stack up with the college nines in Japan.

The game today commences at 4.30 o'clock.

SHIPPING BOARD OFFICERS TO GET INCREASED PAY

Believed Action Taken With Admiral Line Will Affect All Companies

Masters and other officers of American Shipping Board passenger liners operated by the Admiral Line between Seattle and The Far East are to receive increase in pay by reason of a recent ruling of the United States Shipping Board, it was learned here yesterday.

Under the increases granted, captains will receive $5,000 a year instead of $3,780 which they are now receiving and in this way will be put on an equal basis with masters of Shipping Board liners on the Atlantic. Salaries of chief engineers are being raised from $3,420 to $4,000 and salaries of chief officers from $2,400 to $2,700.

Corresponding increases are granted to the other deck and engine room officers of the 535-footers. Until the new increase was ordered masters of the Canadian Pacific transpacific liners, it is said, were drawing higher salaries than the masters of the Shipping Board's liners. This disparity is overcome by the increases now granted.

Although no information has been received in Shanghai on the subject it is believed that the wage increases will also include the Pacific Mail liners operated from San Francisco and also owned by the Shipping Board as it is not thought probable that the board would raise the wages on one line and not on another.

The board's new order also means that masters and other officers of the 535-footers operated from Seattle hereafter will receive the same salaries that the Shipping Board has been paying for a long time to the officers of the same size and type of vessel on the Atlantic routes. Commanders of larger carriers on the Atlantic are to receive higher salaries than those paid in the case of the 535's. The commander of the Leviathan will draw $7,500 a year. The commander of the George Washington will get $6,500 and the commander of the America will receive $6,000.

The Admiral commanders to receive the new scale of $5,000 a year are Capt. Thomas P. Quinn of the President Madison, Capt. Francis R. Nichols of the President Jefferson, Capt. M. M. Jensen of the President Grant, Capt. Gerard T. January of the President McKinley and Capt. John Griffith of the President Jackson.

Gov't Cotton Report Too Bearish, Traders Believe; Price Jump Short-lived

(Reuter's Service)

New York, August 4.—The Government report has been received, analysed and found wanting. In other words, and plainly, no one believed it. A condition of 70.8, in view of the many private reports, some of which present elaborate systems for gathering accurate crop information, suggesting an average of around 73, was so far out of line that after the first upheaval in the market, when a prices jumped about $9 per bale, it practically collapsed and in less than two days had lost all the advance.

No one attempted to figure out how the Government had arrived at its conclusions, especialy in view of the weekly official crop summaries, which have been almost uniformly bearish, except for reference to boll weevil.

There was no question in the mind of anyone who studied the actions of the market that confidence in the Bureau reports had been badly shaken as a result of last summer's blunders, and even with the explanation of the head of the Crop Reporting Board at Washington as to the sources of information available the trade was unwilling to believe that the crop had sustained the decline in condition during the month that was shown.

All reports from the cotton goods section of the market indicated a similar skepticism, and in place of the buying wave for goods which at first was confidently expected to follow the report, there was actual indifference, as its apparent inconsistencies were revealed.

Since its issue, especially in view of the declining raw market, demand for goods has been very light and prices are more or less nominal. A local trade paper published an interview with the head of the Crop Reporting Board, in which he was credited with making the unusual assertion that if any extensive deterioration is manifested which has not been discounted already, a cotton famine is inevitable.

The article quoted him as saying that the so-called normal reserve of 9,000,000 bales has been cut in half, and with the estimated production of this year's crop, the supply of the staple will be barely sufficient for the world's consumption. Regardless of how accurate his views may be, and they are in harmony with those held by many in the trade here, the propriety of a Government official expressing such views is open to question.

One of the big men in cotton and banking circles here, a former member of the New York Cotton Exchange, says he is disposed to guess that the world will require 13 or 13½ million bales of American cotton during the year ending July 31, 1923. But he admits that even if he is right, the market will not advance much during the first three months of the season unless spinners decide to anticipate their requirements while the cotton is offering in quantity. Nevertheless he believes that as money is abnormally cheap throughout the world manufacturers will buy largely when they can get the qualities they need on a reasonable basis as compared with futures. At 20 cents he believes the market will encounter a strong trade demand which would be automatically checked at 25 cents.

The latest thing in the way of crop news is a report that Georgia is considering the erection of factories for the production of calcium arsenate for use by farmers in the state to combat the boll weevil, at cost.

And now it is the cotton caterpillar which threatens the cotton crop, or a part of it. According to information sent out by the American Cotton Association, there has recently been an invasion of such a pest throughout Texas and Louisana and extending into Arkansas and Mississippi.

It is claimed that if there is spread of the caterpillar at this early season on a late crop, the destruction will be incalculable in view of the fact that supplies of arsenical poisons have been exhausted in efforts to control the boll weevil.

Secretary Hester of the New Orleans Cotton Exchange has issued his annual figures in which he shows the commercial crop of this year to have been 11,653,000 bales, and consumption 12,804,000 bales. The carryover he estimates at 4,904,000 bales, compared with 9,364,000 bales a year ago.

A market review by the National Wholesale Dry Goods Association says a large cotton crop would be a blessing to the country as it would mean lower prices for finishing cotton products which are now on a basis of from 75 to 100 percent over the pre-war price and would thus encourage buying by consumers. It pointed out that buyers in agricultural communities are not favorable to the purchase of dry goods on a basis of 22 to 25 cents for cotton, but that they would probably be willing to buy dry goods on a basis of lower priced cotton.

Japanese Gunboat On Yangstze Fired Upon; Two Casualties

(Reuter's Pacino Service)

Peking, Aug. 25.—The Japanese steamer Ungyo Maru, owned by the Sino-Japanese Navigation Company, arrived at Ichang from Chungking on Wednesday after an exciting trip. On the journey up-river the vessel was under fire from both banks of the river for forty minutes at Fowchow.

Many of the bullets struck her hull and two of the crew were wounded, the chief engineer being struck in the head.

On the return journey the Ungyo Maru and a British steamer were conveyed by the British gunboat Teal. Again they were attacked, this time at Wanhsien, and the firing from the land was continuous for a quarter of an hour, but the Teal replied with guns and machine-guns and the three vessels got through without casualties.

A Japanese gunboat passing Kwelchowfu was less fortunate. Coming under heavy fire from the First Army troops there, she was hit by a number of projectiles and suffered two casualties.

It is reported that all is quiet at Chungking, but the upper river is considered quite unsafe and vessels are being warned against attempting to traverse it.

Chinese In Java Abused, They Say

(Chung Mei Service)

Peking, August 25.—The Chinese residents in Java have sent a letter to the Foreign Office requesting the latter to lodge a protest with the Dutch Legation over the mistreatment of Chinese citizens in Java. There are over 300,000 Chinese living there.

It is thought that this trouble has arisen over the treatment of the coolies in the interior plantations which are removed from the active oversight of the Chinese representatives in Java.

Northcliffe Heirs Already In Court

(Reuter's Service)

London, August 27.—The News of the World states that three caveats have been entered by interested parties against the grant of probate of the will of Lord Northcliffe.

The first will dated March 23, 1919, with several codicils, is being propounded on the ground that the testator was of unsound mind when the second will was made shortly before his death, of which Lady Northcliffe is the sole executrix. It is rumored that Lady Northcliffe is the chief beneficiary under both wills, which presumably differ in other respects.

A writ has been issued commencing a suit to determine which shall be admitted to probate. It is thought that the destination and policy of the Northcliffe press may be dependent on this decision.

Major Blake Gives Up World Flight

(Reuter's Service)

Calcutta, Aug. 26. — Major Blake has abandoned his world flight and will shortly return to England.

Calcutta, Aug. 25.—The airmen, Captains MacMillan and Malins, Major Blake's colleagues on his world flight and who were continuing the flight alone owing to Major Blake being in hospital with appendicitis, have arrived at Chittagong and are now in hospital there suffering from exposure.

When they were rescued their machine had overturned and was adrift, with the airmen clinging to the floats. They are both unable to walk owing to fatigue due to exposure for 48 hours in very hot weather.

The contrast between the old-fashioned girl and Miss 1922, their methods of hunting down a husband, always an interesting comparison, is the revolving point of this fast whirling romance. "DON'T CALL ME LITTLE GIRL."
A vivacious heroine smartly interpreted by Mary Minter trips on a miscalculated romance of a maiden aunt, falls in love with the hitherto-reluctant bridegroom herself and shapes the destinies of four love-sick misfits, including herself after no end of embarassing mistakes.
The Story is old fashioned and modern by turns. There is some excellent comedy and a never-flagging pep that brings the interest to a pitch and keeps it there.

Mr. Crane On The Danger In Near East

THAT the Moslem pot in the Near East may boil over at any time with no inconsiderable damage to Christian, Moslem and Jew is the belief of Charles R. Crane, who has just returned from a visit of several months to the Arabian Peninsula, says a writer in The New York Times. Mr. Crane was arrested in Damascus by the French on the charge of inciting the natives to open rebellion. An apology was tendered him by the French after an investigation into the causes of the uprising proved the visitor to have been blameless.

Mr. Crane, who was Minister to China during the Wilson Administration, made a survey of Syria and Palestine as a member of the American Mission appointed in 1919 to report to the Peace Conference on this phase of the Near Eastern situation. According to him conditions throughout those countries are much more unsettled than when he last visited them, soon after the armistice. His recent trip was made in an unofficial capacity, and although Mr. Crane is loath to add anything to the reports which have appeared in English and American journals vindicating him, he made it clear that the feeling of resentment in that district at misplaced mandates and broken promises was becoming a menace to the rest of the world.

In talking of the problems of peaceableminded peoples in the East who are looking forward hopefully to a free and independent State, Mr. Crane said:

"Lord Bryce, of course, was the greatest traveler of his time. He was the most widely known and the most highly esteemed person in the world. More people over the world knew him than have known any one else, and they trusted him and valued his judgment. When he left his post at Washington, he proceeded across America, visited China, and crossed Siberia and Russia on the way home. That was in 1914. He arrived just two months before the great war broke out and he epitomised his experiences in a university address in which he said that the most serious thing that he saw in the world was the tremendous race feeling which had been growing sharper for several years, and it was his advice that while this feeling continued people should remain as much as possible in their natural habitats.

"Two months after this address the war broke out and along with it and the armistice conditions which followed, especially the failure of the Allies to keep their promises to Eastern peoples, this race feeling has continued to grow, and it is vastly more acute than it was at the time when Lord Bryce made his observations. The effort to force the Greeks into Smyrna and Thrace; force against the strongest kind of feeling throughout the whole Arabic Peninsula, and of the English to carry out the Zionist interpretation of the Balfour promises in Palestine, have all accentuated to the highest possible degree the movement that alarmed Lord Bryce earlier.

"All of these processes have made the situation much worse than it was three years ago, and it is not going to get any better by continuing these things. Force has failed.

"It is hard to learn the truth about that part of the world, as all of the Foreign Offices seem to be in a conspiracy to prevent the slightest bit of news from leaking out. In the meantime, the burden falls on all the conservative non-political people, whether Christian, Moslem or Jew."

Mr. Crane thinks that the Moslems of Syria, Palestine and Asia Minor are better qualified for self-government than either the Bulgarians or the Filipinos. At various times during a period of years Mr. Crane has visited Eastern countries and through his friendship with leading Moslems is in a position to know the feeling throughout the Arabic Peninsula. In discussing events in that district since 1919, at which time the Syrians were strongly in favor of an American mandate and other Arabic-speaking countries were looking to a lasting peace, he continued:

"These peoples feel that they have been fed on lies. At the Peace Conference they were buoyed up by the hope of self-determination. Failing that they turned eagerly to an American or a British mandate. They have been given none of the things which were promised at that time. But instead a French mandate has been temporarily placed over Syria. This has infuriated them. The French have divided the country up into seven districts, in each of which has been placed a French Commission heavily personneled and salaried. This means increased taxation for the natives who see no reason for their supporting a French army of 100,000 men. Leading citizens of Damascus and Beirut told me that taxes were ten times higher than they had ever been. This is understandable to those who know the situation in Bulgaria, where a larger sum is being paid in reparation and the upkeep of a French High Commission than is being expended in supporting the entire government of the country.

"The French were very bitter because I spoke about a permanent mandate. They seemed to think that the Moslems did not know that the present arrangement was only temporary and that the matter was being discussed at Geneva. These events are all well known to the educated Syrian who follows closely the work of the League of Nations conferences. Syria and Palestine are not like the Balkans. If the Allies mismanage in these two countries there will be a reprecussion throughout the Moslem and Christian world; whereas, if they have their own government and they mismanage, the responsibility is theirs.

"The whole Moslem world is behind the Turk. In all the mosques in Syria and Palestine the Sultan is being prayed for every day. To those conversant with the situation it is well known that the Moslems are looking forward to an independent State reaching from the Tarsus Mountains to the Gulf of Arabia. If Emir Feisal is not given Mesopotamia he will withdraw his promises to the British. At present Britain seems quite in the mood to give it to the Arab State.

"For years the flower of the British army has been sent to the Soudan for service. It has always been one of the great armies of the world. In talking with General Allenby and some of the older officers, I found them very much in sympathy with the Moslem claims. They are distinctly not in sympathy with the political wranglings at home which have made their promises to the native armies which fought with them during the World War appear ridiculous.

"Dr. Shahbender, a native Syrian of great intelligence and a graduate of the American College at Beirut, was with me in Damascus at the time of my arrest. He was also arrested and given a twenty-year sentence by the French. He was accused of leading a movement for a free Syria. As the question of a mandate has not been decided there would seem to be small reason why there should not be discussion of an independent State.

"That the French lose in comparison with the British who have always sent their best officers and soldiers to conduct negotiations with their colonies is well recognised by those who have studied colonial questions. The type of man the French have heretofore sent into Syria has had much to do with the present deplorable state of affairs. General Gouraud is one of the first officers of distinguished record the French have ever sent to their colonies, while the British have always been careful to give their best. There are things which matter tremendously to the Moslems. Most of them are of high intelligence and quite able to understand that the Allies have made rather a mess of things, and they naturally argue that in view of this state of affairs they would be safer and far happier in governing themselves.

"In passing through Constantinople on my way home I met General Gouraud who was hurrying out to Syria. In my talk with him he did not seem to realise the real state of affairs in that country. During my visit I had had a chance to see the natives in their homes, to talk with all classes, to discuss without animus their problems. It was made plain to me that the lid might blow off at any time. The man who says, as the French are saying, that everything is quiet in the Arabian Peninsula, simply does not know what he is talking about."

Teething Children.

Teething children have more or less diarrhoea, which can be controlled by giving Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy. All that is necessary is to give the prescribed dose after each motion of the bowels more than natural and then castor oil to cleanse the system. It is safe and sure. Even the most severe and dangerous cases are quickly cured by it.

From The Golden Books

THE FOOL'S PRAYER

(Edward Roland Sill)

The royal feast was done; the king
Sought some new sport to banish care.
And to his jester cried. "Sir Fool
Kneel now, and make for us a prayer!"

The jester doffed his cap and bells.
And stood the mocking court before;
They could not see the bitter smile
Behind the painted grin he wore.

He bowed his head, and bent his knee
Upon the monarch's silken stool:
His pleading voice arose: "O Lord,
Be merciful to me, a fool!

"No pity, Lord, could change the heart
From red with wrong to white as wool;
The rod must heal the sin; but, Lord,
Be merciful to me, a fool!

"'Tis not by guilt the onward sweep
Of truth and right, O Lord, we stay;
'Tis by our follies that so long
We hold the earth from Heaven away.

"These clumsy feet, still in the mire,
Go crushing blossoms without end;
These hard, well-meaning hands we thrust
Among the heart-strings of a friend.

"The ill-timed truth we might have kept—
Who knows how sharp it pierced and stung?
The word we had not sense to say—
Who knows how gladly it had rung?

"Our faults no tenderness should ask,
The chastening stripes must cleanse them all;
But for our blunders—oh, in shame
Before the eyes of Heaven we fall.

"Earth bears no balsam for mistakes;
Men crown the knaves and scourge the tool
That did his will; but thou, O Lord,
Be merciful to me, a fool!"

The room was hushed; in silence rose
The king, and sought his gardens cool,
And walked apart, and murmured now,
"Be merciful to me, a fool!"

Correspondence

BULLETS AND TRAINS

Editor: THE CHINA PRESS.

Dear Sir,—Having read the correspondence of Mr. S. S. in the issue of the 27th inst. of your very esteemed newspaper, I have made the "acquaintance" with his "principles of science" and being "thus equipped" I have now the "intellectual pleasure" to refute the very first of his "speculations"; "his assumption being "false," "consequently" the remainder of his "arguments" also may be liable to "collapse" with the exception of the correct assertion that a ray of light travels in a straight line;

Mr. S. S. says: "A rifle bullet, fired with a velocity of 1,000 feet per second from the rear end of a train (travelling at 1,000 feet per second) to the front end, will not remain suspended at the muzzle of the rifle but will leave it at that velocity. It makes not the slightest difference whether the rifle is stationary or moving at any velocity."

I dare say that this is not consistent even with "very elementary science" because in this case the bullet will not leave the muzzle of the rifle at a velocity of only 1,000 feet per second, but will move with a velocity of 2,000 feet per second.

The length of the train has no effect on the velocity of the bullet. Supposing the length of the train to be 1,000 feet too, the rear end of the train at the time when the bullet is fired to be at a place A in the space (outside the train) and the fore end at a place B in the space, 1,000 feet off from A, in one second after the firing of the bullet from the rear end of the train at A, the bullet will have reached the fore end of the train which end simultaneously will have been removed to a third place C in the space, 1,000 feet off from B or 2,000 feet off from A where the bullet has been fired. Thus the bullet will have made the distance A-C in space=2,000 feet per one second. On the contrary, if the train had been stationary, the bullet would have reached in the time of one second the fore end of the train at B, after having in such a case travelled only 1,000 feet per second.

"This also is elementary."

In this case a bullet even fired from the front or fore end of the train towards the rear end of the latter, would not remain suspended at the muzzle of the rifle but in consequence of gravitation or the attraction of the earth would in space fall straight down to the earth in a vertical direction. Yours very respectfully,

P. SCHNORE.

CHRISTIANITY

Editor: THE CHINA PRESS.

Dear Sir,—Your correspondent Sophia has written a most misleading article which can in no way be reconciled with our convictions as Christians.

Our religion teaches that Christianity is the work of God. All other religions are the work of men. They are so many systems whereas Christianity is a Divine Institution.

The founder of Christianity is our Lord Jesus Christ the second person of the Blessed Trinity who was conceived by the Holy Ghost and born of the Virgin Mary.

The doctrines of Christianity are based on the life of our Lord himself. The example of his life and experiences furnish the basis of our faith. The divine founder left no books, proposed no systems. It was for his apostles and disciples to write on the things they had seen and heard.

Christianity is the essence of simplicity. The fundamental doctrine is that Jesus is the son of God. As to the rest we must live as our divine master himself lived.

All is based on the life of Christ. We are in this world to labor and to die but we shall rise again as Christ did. For, if Christ had not risen from the dead, then would our doctrines and hopes have been in vain.

Christianity is the work of God and must not be confounded with the work of men. All talk of a general fusion is nonsense as our divine mission is to go forth and teach all nations. I am, etc.,

GRAVITATION?

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS.

Sir: The following is an excerpt from "The Outline of Science."

"The earth is held rigidly to this path (round the sun) by the gravitational pull of the sun. . . . If at any moment the sun ceased to exert this pull the earth would instantly fly off into space straight in the direction in which it was working . . . It is the balance between it and the sun's pull which keeps the earth to her almost circular orbit. In the same way the seven other planets are held to their orbits."

Now I want to suggest to your scientific writers and readers that this is not "Gravitation" at all, but "The Law of Attraction." I suggest that there is no such thing as "Gravitation," that the "Law of Attraction" governs the universe.

Mark you, it is not one and the same thing. In all things, especially things scientific, it behoves us to think correctly and accurately, besides there is more involved in this difference than merely a choice of two terms for the same power.

Thanking you for inserting the letter. I am, yours faithfully.

Hall's Distemper has led the way to a new era in house decoration—the era of brighter, cleaner and healthier homes.

It is the most durable of all decorations, lasting for years with freshness unimpaired, whereas wall-papers deteriorate from the first day by fading and accumulating dust and dirt.

Hall's Distemper is a thorough disinfectant, and is applied directly upon the wall, forming a hard surface, from which dust and dirt may be "spring-cleaned" by lightly sponging with warm water.

Hall's Distemper

is a unique preparation and has the recommendation of leading sanitary authorities, architects, and decorators everywhere.

Old-Fashioned Southern Drinks And A Modern Fruit Frappe

When the inclination is to "walk on the shady side" and to be possessed of a great, and unending thirst—then the time of cooling beverages has arrived. A bit of thought, a few moments of time, some ice, long glasses and the inevitable mint sprigs are the necessary start for a successful summer drink.

Among the most favored in the South is old-fashioned limeade, made as follows:

SOUTHERN LIMEADE

Make a sugar syrup of one cup of water and three-fourths of a cup of sugar. To two tablespoonfuls of this syrup placed in a tall glass add the juice of one lime and generous cubes of ice. Fill with seltzer water and serve with slices of the lime.

PEPPERMINT LEMONADE

To two quarts of water add the juice of four lemons and sweeten with sugar syrup to which has been added five drops of oil of peppermint. Serve from a glass pitcher with ice and mint sprigs.

GRAPE LIMEADE

To make two quarts of this drink use the juice of four limes, a pint and a half of grape juice, five drops of oil of peppermint, one quart of carbonated water and plenty of ice. Sweeten with sugar syrup. Add the mint to the syrup and mix with the grape juice and limes. Then add the ice and water.

AN UNUSUAL FRUIT PUNCH

To make a very good fruit punch use the juice from one can of sliced pineapple, juice of two lemons, juice of one orange, one cup of some available bitters, three pints of carbonated water and sweeten with grenadine syrup. Mix the fruit juices and syrup in a large glass pitcher, add water and ice, slices of lemon, sprigs of mint, cheries and cubes of pineapple. Serve very cold—when the frost is on the pitcher!

FRUIT FRAPPE

Place two tablespoonfuls of mixed fruit juices (orange, lemon and pineapple) in a tall glass; add to this some sugar syrup and a spoonful of plain water ice. Fill the glass with carbonated water and garnish with thin slices of lemon and orange.

Mars Latest Conundrum

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS,
Eminent Astronomer and Authority on Subjects of Scientific Interest.

What is the significance of the "white patch," 300,000 square miles in area, that recently made its appearance on Mars? Similar patches have before been seen on that planet, near the same locality. On the face of it such a phenomenon offers an argument in favor of the habitability of Mars, for the most natural interpretation of the sudden appearance of a large white area covering permanent features on the surface of a distant planet is that of the formation of vast masses of cloud in its atmosphere, and clouds, as we know them on earth, are mainly composed of condensed watery vapor.

But where there is water and floating vapor there must be an atmosphere—and so we have, apparently presented to us in one view, the three things most essential to the support of living creatures, more or less resembling the inhabitants of the earth.

That this explanation of the white apparition on Mars is, in itself, reasonable becomes plain when we consider what would be the appearance of an immense storm-cloud covering an area of 300,000 square miles of the earth looked at with a telescope from a distance of millions of miles. The shadow and the darkness are all beneath the clouds; their upper surface, which is that presented toward observers on other worlds, gleams like snow in the uninterrupted sunshine. Cyclones and deluges of rain may be occurring under the clouds, but seen from above they give no hint of such things except through inference.

In order, however, that powerful winds and heavy rainfall should occur on Mars, the atmosphere of that planet should possess a considerable density, and the supply of water vapor should be abundant. With reference to these things the most painstaking observations have given contradictory results, but, at best, it seems certain that Mars's atmosphere, at the planet's surface, is not denser than that of the earth at a height of several miles above sea-level, and far above the elevation where terrestrial rain-clouds are formed.

Another suggestion is that the white area on Mars may be due to a vast deposit of hoar frost, caused by a sudden lowering of the temperature. It is possible that this could happen in an atmosphere much less dense than the earth's and containing a far smaller proportion of watery vapor.

But if this is the true explanation of the phenomenon the argument for the habitability of the planet becomes much weaker although it does not entirely lose its force, because we must admit that the adjustment of life to conditions considerably variant from those of the earth is not only conceivable but probable. As long as air and water remain, it may be said, there is hope for life though the forms of such life may vary widely from what we meet on the earth.

These considerations show, at a glance, the immense apparent superiority of the planet Venus to Mars as an abode for the higher forms of organic life. Every evening now, when Mars is glowing ruddily over the southern horizon, with red Antares besides him, Venus almost blazes with white rays above the sunset, her matchless beauty being due largely to her possession in abundant measure of the very things in which Mars is relatively lacking—an atmosphere and water. It is fascinating to glance from one of these sister worlds to the other, and observe the striking contrast that they present in the simple matter of color only.

The idea that the white patches on Mars has some connection with an attempt of the inhabitants of that planet to "signal" the earth has been suggested by association with recent speculations concerning certain long electric waves noticed by Mr. Marconi and supposed, if not by him by others, to have been sent from Mars, as a sort of "flyer" which might be picked up and understood, after a fashion, on the earth.

It has since been learned, however, that electric waves of the abnormal length noticed by Marconi were used in some experiments at Schenectady, and very likely these were the phenomena in question. The suggestion of a visible signal displayed on Mars—a signal 300,000 square miles in area—is even less fundamentally probable than that of signalling across interplanetary space by electric waves.

An area of 300,000 square miles is about six times as large as the state of New York. If circular in form it would be more than 3,000 miles in diameter. Mars's present distance from the earth (middle of July) is about 47,000,000 miles. By the middle of August it will have increased to 59,500,000 miles. Venus's present distance is about 106,000,000 miles; by the middle of August it will have diminished to about 84,700,000 miles. But Mars never gets within ten million miles as near the earth as Venus comes on Nov. 25, when her distance will be about 24,700,000 miles.

Exchange Fluctuations
Asia Banking Corporation

August 28, 1922

Spot and Forward Bar Silver were each up ¼d in London on Saturday. The New York price advanced to 69⅞ cents and the London-New York cross rate declined to 446½.

Our Official Sterling rate here today was raised to 3-5⅛, the Gold Dollar rate to 77¼ and the Yen rate dropped to 62¼, and the other rates changed in proportion.

Our market at the opening was firm with speculators selling. A fair amount of business was done in Sterling at 3-5⅞, in Gold Dollars at 78 and in Yen at 61¼.

However, banks were generally buyers at these rates and later on in the day the market eased off, business being done at continually declining rates until at the close there were no sellers of Sterling better than 3s. 5⅝d. for August-September deliveries and possibly 3s. 5½d. for November-December.

Gold Dollars were offering at the close at 77⅝ for August-September-October and 77⅝ for November-December deliveries. There was a strong demand for Yen in the afternoon, a fair amount of business in which was done at 61⅝ and at the close there were buyers at this rate with sellers at 61⅛ only.

Banks today were quoting 3-6½ for Sterling Bills, 79¼ for Gold Dollar Bills and 1065 for Franc Bills. China bought silver in London and New York Saturday and both markets were reported as steady.
